

MAPPING PROGRAM SERVICES FOR ALIGNMENT WITH SNAP E&T

The purpose of this tool is for your organization to identify how existing services align with SNAP E&T components and related case management. This mapping tool will also help you to identify program adjustments, additional information needed, staff training, and other next steps needed to become a SNAP E&T provider.

Using this guide will give you key pieces of information to develop a SNAP E&T proposal as well as how you will integrate SNAP E&T into your program services.

STEP 1: Review and become familiar with the SNAP E&T components and services

STEP 2: Assess your services for SNAP E&T alignment

- Match the SNAP E&T components and services to your organization's current programs and services
- Identify any adjustments, next steps or staff training related to your selected components or services
- Review the example assessment

A few considerations:

- SNAP agencies do not always include every component and providers do not need to offer all available components
- It's likely and not a problem if your program and services are:
 - Funded with a mix of allowable non-federal funds and unallowable funds
 - Provided to a mix of SNAP E&T enrolled and non-SNAP E&T participants
